The basket has a loop on the side.
There is a lemon, a lime, and an orange in the bowl.
The glass is held in place by pieces of lead.
The flame will light the candle.
The funny story made her laugh loudly.
The red lid is leaning against the garbage can.
The old log is at the edge of the dirt.
A shoelace is used to lace up the boots.
The lizard is wearing a leash, so it can go for a walk.
They built a cabin at the edge of the lake.
These lug sole boots are good for climbing.
The stork is standing all alone on one leg.
If you don't have a napkin, lick the chocolate off your face.
The latch will keep the case closed.
This house has a big green lawn.
Today I am having my lunch outside.
They turn on the street lamp at night.
The bird is going to land on the top of the tree.
The leaf lettuce is red at the end of the leaves.
The lion is resting in the tall grass.

There are several shops along this alley.
I found a sand dollar and some shells on the beach.
In Africa, we watched the giraffes gallop across the plains.
It is easier for me to pour a half-gallon of milk than a gallon.
The pink pillow matches the flowers on the chair.
The green balloon has landed in the field.
There is one red tulip and two yellow tulips on this bowl.
The fresh salad is ready to eat.
The melon has been cut with a long sharp knife.
The marsh is in the shallow water near the ocean.
The tractor is pulling something behind it.
The moose has large antlers.
Why is the number eleven at the top of this page?
The white telephone is on the cluttered desk.
The newsletter lists the calendar of events.
When the letter is finished, it goes in the envelope.
There is only one lollipop in the pile of candy.
The wallet has money and credit cards.
The willow tree is growing by the lake.
The bright yellow fish has a large mouth.

The owl has big round eyes.
The rail cars are full of oil.
Will the ball make it through the net?
The tall giraffe can eat leaves from the top of the trees.
The bronze bell is near the fence.
He is using a pole to move the log boat through the water.
The trolley tracks go right up the steep hill.
The banana peel has been pulled down half way.
A fish is drawn on the side of the small ceramic bowl.
The large bull has a green tag on its left ear.
The yellow pail is on the ground.
The horse is moving its tail to keep the flies away.
The doll is bundled in a blanket in the cradle.
Empty chairs are on the left side of the pool.
There is a hole in the elbow of the knit sweater.
The sailboat has a red and white sail.
The killer whale is very friendly.
The horse is in the first stall on the right.
The snail is moving up the wall.
Use the drill to make a hole in the board.

Water is falling down the waterfall.
Willow leaves are long and thin with one vein in the middle.
These horses are pulling a heavy wagon.
The bricks are stacked on the pallet.
The two silos have domed tops.
The pilings are tied together at the top with thick rope.
This pipeline is used to carry oil to the refinery.
They will use a shotline to connect two boats.
There is an alpine meadow beneath the snow covered peaks.
Raisin bread tastes good with plum jelly.
The high rise hotel has a balcony for each room.
The foliage of a banana plant is red and green.
The coliseum was built by the Romans long ago.
The trolley has made a stop to pick up passengers.
She is pushing the baby in the stroller.
There are many tall buildings in the busy metropolis.
There is a white trellis on the path to the house.
Be very careful when you step on the escalator.
The water lily has one blossom.
The yellow flowers have many petals.

There are many doors opening into the hall.
The small saw mill can cut large logs.
Keep pouring to fill the glass with soda.
The stone wall has jagged rocks on top.
The farmer is shearing the wool from the sheep.
If the waves are too big, pull your kayak out of the water.
The foal is looking right at us.
The onion has a thin white skin that we must peel off.
There is a pile of bark under the wheelbarrow.
The water boiled and the kettle began to whistle.
These African cattle have very long horns.
The wood on the deck is cut at an angle.
One petal has a brown mark on it.
Some of the fingers are bent at the knuckle.
The windmill is used to pump underground water.
The formal dinner setting has two glasses.
Our tour guide always had a friendly smile.
The wire on one spool has white specks on it.
The scale is used to weigh materials to make glazes.
This building looks like it was built in medieval times.
