

rm initial

r ow	r ow
r aw	r aw
r ut	r u t
r ip	r i p
r ot	r o t
r ope	r o pe
r ipe	r i pe r efs	r e f s
r oad	r oa d r ise	r i se
r ule	r u le
r ows	r ow s r ound	r ou n d r amp	r a m p
r ust	r u s t
r igging	r i g • g i ng
r ushing	r u sh • i ng
r ailroad	r ai l • r oa d r unners	r u n • n er s r iverbank	r i v • er • b a n k in a row raw vegetables

a rut in the dirt
a rip to rot
thick rope
a large, ripe avocado basketball refs
the road
the sun rise
old fashioned rule
neat rows
round rolls
the winding ramp
some rust
the rigging rushing stream
the railroad tracks smiling runners
on the riverbank

In the city, many houses are close together in a row.
The bowl of raw vegetables will make a tasty lunch.
The construction equipment made a rut in the dirt.
My favorite shirt has a rip on the sleeve.
The damaged leaf has begun to rot.
The thick rope is made of two kinds of strands.
A large, ripe avocado is on the little plate.
Basketball refs wear shirts with black and white stripes.
The road goes in a straight line until it disappears in the distance.
When we went on vacation, we often watched the sun rise.
The old fashioned rule can still be used to measure things.
The plants are growing in neat rows.
We are having round rolls for dinner.
Cars drive up the winding ramp to the parking lot.
The raku kiln has some rust on the top and front.
The rigging on old sailing ships was used to hold up the masts.
The water in the rushing stream is probably very cold.
The boxcars are sitting on the railroad tracks.
The smiling runners have just started the race.
A crowd has gathered on the riverbank.

rm medial

arid	a • r i d
iris	i • r i s
berry	b e r • r y
furry	f u r • r y
carry	c a r • r y
barren	b a r • r e n
garden	g a r • d e n
girders	g i r • d e r s
narrow	n a r • r o w
upright	u p • r i g h t
cherub	ch e r • u b
siren	s i • r e n
scarlet	s c a r • l e t stairway	s t a i r • w a y giraffe	g i r • a f f e Moroccan	M o r • o c • c a n oranges	o r • a n • g e s intersection	i n • t e r • s e c • t i o wiring	n
curve	w i r • i n g
	c u r v e

arid canyon lands the iris
favorite berry
furry winter coat trying to carry barren field in their garden
steel girders
a narrow crack
not upright
statue of a cherub
its siren
a scarlet head
steps of the stairway
this giraffe Moroccan fortress juicy round oranges
this intersection
a lot of wiring curve in the road

In the arid canyon lands of Utah, it rarely rains.
The raindrops are glistening on the petals of the iris.
My favorite berry is a strawberry.
It looks like the reindeer has grown his furry winter coat.
They are trying to carry the sculpture across the room.
The farmer is plowing the barren field.
In the desert, some people grow just cactus in their garden.
The bridge is made of thousands of steel girders.
The climber seems to be stuck in a narrow crack.
If the can is not upright, the soda will spill out.
The stone statue of a cherub is placed among the leaves.
When the fire truck blows its siren, cars must get out of the way.
The woodpecker has a scarlet head.
In between the steps of the stairway are colored tiles.
This giraffe has two small horns on the top of its head.
The ancient Moroccan fortress is in the desert.
The metal bucket is full of juicy round oranges.
There is not much traffic in this intersection.
There is a lot of wiring in the ceiling of this building.
The traffic is moving very fast around the curve in the road.

pair p ai r
soar s oa r over o • v er
shower sh ow • er paver p a • v er
timber t i m • b er anchor a n • ch or planer p l a • n er
spur s p ur store s t or e stare s t a re transformer t r a n s • f or • m er Vancouver V a n • c ou • v er extinguisher e x • t i n • g u i sh er tower t ow • er wire w i re
rafter r a f • t er rooster r oo s • t er mortar m or • t ar
corner c or • n er

pair of shoes soar like a vulture
over the river
the shower head
hexagonal paver
timber line
one large anchor wood planer
sharp spur Bees store honey mean stare
the transformer Vancouver skyline
fire extinguisher
the stone tower
barbed wire
each rafter
bright orange rooster mortar between the bricks post on the corner

The dirty pair of shoes is on the clean rug.
I wonder what it is like to soar like a vulture?
The bridge over the river connects the two sides of the town.
A spray of warm water is coming out of the shower head.
Each hexagonal paver fits neatly next to six others.
No trees grow above the timber line.
The ship has one large anchor on each side of the bow.
We used the wood planer to smooth the planks for our floor.
A rooster will use its sharp spur to attack other roosters.
Bees store honey in the cells of the honeycomb.
Do you think the dog has a mean stare?
The transformer is attached to the pole.
We saw the Vancouver skyline as we rode in on the ferry.
The red fire extinguisher can be used to put out a fire.
From high on the hill, the stone tower overlooks the river.
The barbed wire is still very sharp, even though it is rusty.
The carpenter is making sure that each rafter is nailed in place.
The bright orange rooster is strutting around the barnyard.
The mortar between the bricks holds them in place.
The iron fence has a post on the corner.